iPloy, OPC

Ma'am;

Greetings! Please accept this letter as my immediate resignation, effective today, May 19, 2025. I apologize for the sudden nature of this decision and any inconvenience it may cause.

Due to family matter and some other necessary considerations of having this sudden transition of my career, I have concluded that I need to devote more time to pressing family matters and to pursue a long-planned career path in accountancy. Given the evolving requirements of my role and my limited capacity to meet them while making this transition, stepping down immediately is, I believe, the most responsible choice for both the team and the organization.

I am deeply grateful for the guidance, trust, and kindness I have received while working here. Although abrupt, this choice was made after careful reflection, and I will always value the experience and relationships I've gained. For almost 3 years of working with my role and with my colleagues, I must say that I have learned a lot and to acknowledge iPloy, OPC of hiring me even without any experience.

If there is anything else I can do to assist, please let me know.

Thank you again for everything. I wish the team and the company continued success.

Warm regards,
