Dear Management,

I hope this email finds you well. I am writing to formally resign from my position at IPLOY. effective today.

First and foremost, I want to express my regret for my consecutive absences, as I understand the impact they may have had on the team's reliability. It was never my intention to cause disruption, and I sincerely apologize for any inconvenience this has caused.

Additionally, I felt disheartened when I was reprofiled to a different department during my training without a clear explanation. Learning that my previous department had made changes to headcount without proper communication left me feeling uncertain about my role. After much reflection, I have decided to seek better opportunities that align with my long-term goals—particularly an office staff position where I can establish stability and personal growth.

I am grateful for the experience, support, and knowledge I have gained at IPLOY. Despite the challenges, I appreciate the opportunities that have helped me develop both professionally and personally.

I apologize for the immediate nature of my resignation, but I believe this is the best course of action for me at this time. Please let me know if there is anything I can do to assist in the transition process.

Thank you for your understanding. I appreciate my time with IPLOY and wish the team continued success moving forward.

Best regards,

Guillermo Dumaguing Jr.
